

Assignment - Roles on Set

Students research on all of the different jobs on a film set.

One minute recorded narration with cover shots that help the viewer imagine the role. IE headphones for sound department, light bulb for lighting department etc.

You might want to do this earlier in your course so that students have an idea of what they will potentially do on set.

Have students write up how a working group in a student film should work.

This could also be done as a whole class assignment. Each group simply does one or two of the jobs. Then combine all of it together.
